Colonnade Staff Presents Play, "Stop Thief"

One of the most brilliant presentations of the scholastic year was the play presented by the Colonnade Staff in the G. S. C. W. auditorium on Monday evening, April 16.

"Stop Thief" was a most ridiculous farce, screamingly funny from the time the curtains were drawn until the poignant beauty of wedding scene in the last act. Here events passed from the ridiculous to the sublime.

The action of the play was cleverly portrayed by the whole cast. Each member played to perfection her part. Taking the role of Madge Carr the heroine was Marguerite Clark; This bride endured as many disasters on her wedding day as many a person endures in a lifetime. Mary Jane Parker was skillful in interpreting the character of the thief. It seems incredible that so many things could have been taken and found, so much mystery could have been aroused and cleared up in so short a length of time. Mr. Carr the dejected, absent-minded father was none other than "Lucile" Scroggin who, as usual was most entertaining.

Marguerite Jackson, the entangled bridegroom was excellent in the male impersonation. Julia Reese was a typical bond salesman who is eternally thinking of the market. The part of the mother, Mrs. Carr was well carried out by Vivian McClendon.

The two younger daughters were unusually interesting, and were interpreted by Josephine Proctor and Idolene Cosby. Cleo Jenkins was most professional in every move. The entire cast was well selected and the success of the play may be attributed to the excellent coaching of Dr. Amanda Johnson.

Spectrum Nears Completion

In the budding stage and promising to blossom forth at the same time the flowers of May make their entrance is the Spectrum, the college annual which is to preserve in attractive form the outstanding events of the year 1927-28; and which is to stand year in and year out as a monument in immortalizing this scholastic year.

Because this book bespeaks the spirit of the hundreds of young women who are students of this, a woman's college, and because of the fact that this college was one of the first in the state to foster ideals of womanhood, the board of Editors thought it most fitting to choose for the theme of 1928 Spectrum, the womanhood of Georgia. This theme is to be carried out in a most consistent and interesting manner. The life of an outstanding Georgia woman in each period of the state's history is to be portrayed by picture and pen, and these are to introduce the different sections of the book, thus symbolizing that we, the daughters of today, are following in their noble footsteps toward the same goal. From these portrayals the observer has opportunity to glean and so apply to her life, the inspiring qualities which mark the lives of those of National Music Week Observed at G. S. C. W.

National Music Week is to be observed at the Georgia State College for Women May 6, to May 10. This festival is an annual event and one which many out-of-town persons attend. In the past the visitors have never failed to appreciate and to praise the exceptional work done here under the efficient leadership of the music department. Judging by the programs planned for this year's celebration all music lovers have a delightful treat in store for them. Each night's program provides a wide and carefully chosen selection of musical entertainment.

The initial program will be given Sunday evening, May 6, at the Vesper service in charge of the Y. W. C. A. Special music has been planned for this occasion.

On the evening of Monday, May 7, a concert will be given by the Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman glee clubs assisted by the College Orchestra. A piano forte recital by Master Ford Montgomery composes the program for Tuesday afternoon, May 8.

On Wednesday afternoon a violin and piano forte recital will be given by Miss Christine Cotner and Miss Helen Daher. Wednesday evening Bradbury's Cantata "Esther" will be given by the entire Freshman Class and the quartette engaged for this special number.

The festival closes Thursday evening May 10, by the presentation of Gounard's opera, "Faust." The entire Sophomore class and the quartette will present this.

The director for this series of programs will be Miss Alice Lenore Tucker and the accompanist Mrs. Wiles Homer Allen.

"The preparations for this coming event are rapidly and successfully going forward," Miss Tucker said. The interest of the entire student body in this undertaking is evidenced by its enthusiasm and cooperation.

RECITALS TO BE GIVEN BY MUSIC STUDENTS

A series of recitals will be presented by the music department of the Georgia State College for Women before the close of this semester. Students in piano-forte, voice and violins will give programs showing exceptional talent.

Two recitals of post graduate work in piano-forte will be given by Miss Helen Dasher and Miss Inogene Hall. A recital of senior work in piano-forte will be given by Misses Mary Farmer, Katherine Gordy, Lois Jackson, Betty Roberts, and Bess White. Misses Mary Kate Lang, Cornelia Montgomery, Lurene Wyatt and Miss Mary Ellen Perkins will give a recital in Junior work in piano-forte.

Mrs. Mary Long
Mrs. Long, Mrs. Longino, and Miss Tucker will present their students in several voice recitals before June. The violin pupils will also be presented in several recitals.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS VISIT CHAPEL

The Board of Directors of G. S. C. W. held a business meeting Friday morning, April 6, 1928, and were later visitors to the campus during chapel period.

This was the first meeting of the directors since the death of Judge W. H. Davis of Waynesboro. Judge Davis was greatly missed by all. Senator Mildard Reese of Brunswick has been appointed in Judge Davis place, but business prevented Senator Reese attending this Meeting. Members present were: Judge Dick Russell of Atlanta, President of the Board of Directors, Judge John B. Hutcherson of Jonesboro, Honorable M. L. Duggan of Atlanta, Mr. T. E. Atkinson of Newman, Dr. Tigner and Honorable Miller S. Bell, both of Milledgeville.

The directors enjoyed a delightful lunch in Atkinson dining hall.

During the afternoon the visitors inspected the new dormitory and the Parks Memorial Hospital. They expressed enthusiastic praise over both buildings. During the entire visit, the members of the Board of Directors expressed desires to do more than ever before to make a greater G. S. C. W.

DR. DANIELS HONORED

Recently Dr. Francis Daniels received a certificate notifying him of his election as a member at large of the National Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, a national Social Science honor fraternity.

Dr. Daniels is also a member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity and of many learned and scientific societies. He was chiefly instrumental in founding a chapter of the American Association of University Professors in this college. At present, he is president of the chapter. He is widely known and appreciated for his poems and other literary productions. He is now engaged in writing a biography of the late Dr. M. M. Parks.

Freshmen Receive Privileges April 13

The Freshmen Class received their privileges in Chapel, Friday morning, April 13, from Dr. Beeson.

After the faculty and student announcements, Dr. Beeson turned the exercises over to the Freshmen class. The curtains parted to disclose the stage artistically decorated in ferns and the class colors—lavender and purple. Those sitting upon the stage were Dr. Beeson, Dr. Webber, the Freshmen class officers, the president of the Junior class, and the Freshmen Glee Club. Katherine Jones, the president of the class, opened the exercises by reading the one hundred and twenty-first psalm which was followed by a prayer led by Cleo Jenkins. The devotional exercises were then closed by an Easter hymn in which Mary Kate Lang took the solo and the Glee Club the chorus parts. Following Catherine Jones' speech on responsibility, Elizabeth Stewart, the vice-president, made a short talk on loyalty. The Freshman class song to the tune of "Moonlight and Roses" was then sung. Leo Jordan, the class secretary, read the privileges which Dr. Beeson in a few well chosen words granted. He commented on the excellent "esprit de corps" that characterizes the present Freshman class. Dr. Webber gave a short talk in his usual amusing manner. Grace Gregg, the class treasurer, then thanked Dr. Beeson and Dr. Webber and pledged to the faculty, matrons, and student body their loyalty and cooperation. These exercises were concluded by the singing of the "Alma Mater."

G. S. C. W. Votes For State Bird

At chapel on Friday morning April 27, the entire student body and faculty of G. S. C. W. cast their vote for the Georgia State Bird.

The three birds which have been selected as candidates for the Georgia State Bird are the Purple Martin, the Redheaded Woodpecker and the Brown Thrasher. The advanced class in Ornithology presented the candidates.

After the devotional and announcements the Chapel exercises were given over to voting for the birds.

Marguerite Clark presided over the meeting and when nominations were declared to be in order Blanche Green nominated the Purple Martin. His picture was shown and his platform for election was presented Kathleen Rice nominated the Redheaded Woodpecker, and Marie Hancock the Brown Thrasher. Each time the birds picture was shown and a speech was given in his behalf. After nominations were made children from the practice school dressed in costumes representing the three candidates came upon the stage.

After being sure that every member of the student body and faculty knew exactly the bird for which they wished to vote, the votes were cast.

The results were as follows: Brown Thrasher, 839; Redheaded Woodpecker, 45; Purple Martin 3.

Class Trip Highly Enjoyed By Students

STUDENTS VISITED OLD ARISTOCRATIC CHARLESTON AND BEAUTIFUL MAGNOLIA GARDENS.

The Trip, which lasted from Monday morning of April 2nd to very early Wednesday morning, passed in a whirl of excitement and new scenes and every moment was filled with interest.

Monday afternoon was given over to sight seeing and the students were allowed to go where ever they pleased. Groups of eager girls passed in and out of the Frances Marion during the hours between their arrival and the banquet held that night. The more quiet Charlestonians were almost startled out of their calmness by the rapidly moving, eager, curious girls trying to see all of Charleston in one short afternoon. Students scientifically inclined spent their time in the museum where they found things to interest them ranging from live snakes to old-fashioned dresses worn long before grandmother's day. Others of an artistic nature visited the Art gallery. Those fond of Architecture went to the "Gloria Theatre" the interior of which is beautifully designed. Girls interested in the city itself strolled through the older section of Charleston. Here the quaint, narrow streets claimed their attention. Carved doors opening on the streets and curious brass knockers were examined. The City Hall and historic Pringle House were also visited. The famous battery, and the new and old Citadel came in for their share of attention. Last but not least, the ten cent stores were besieged for souvenirs—post cards, pennants, and pins were bought in large numbers.

The class banquet marked the first big event of the trip. This was held in the Banquet Hall which was tastefully decorated with brown and gold, the colors of G. S. C. W. Sophomores and Juniors assembled in white spring uniforms, while the Seniors were resplendent in new evening gowns and Spanish Shawls. Visitors of importance at the banquet were Mayor Stoney and officers from Ft. Moultrie who so royally entertained the group the next day. An unusual program was presented by class officers and members of the Senior class. Interesting talks were given by Dr. Beeson, Dr. Webber, and Mayor Stoney. The entire evening was a success including the delightfully served banquet.

Next morning marked the second important event of the trip, the visit to Magnolia Gardens. The girls spent hours there, and found it difficult to leave this "garden spot of the earth." The Agelaeas were blooming in all their gorgeous profusion of colors—white, pink, red, salmon, and many shades of pink. Each walk revealed new beauties and the girls wandered over the garden fascinated by its indescribable loveliness. The constant 'click, click' of kodaks revealed the fact that glimpses of this fairyland would be taken back to Georgia.

But it is useless to try to describe the Gardens—everyone should see them. It is enough to say they are almost unrivaled in beauty, and are certainly one of the wonders of the

Do You Suffer From Spring FEVER?

"God's in his Heaven, All's right with the world."
Stop and ask a student what these beautiful spring days mean to her. No doubt, she will say, "Oh, such a time for spring fever. I have a thesis to write and work is coming from all sides. Spring fever makes me so tired and worried."

To most of us, Spring means 'spring fever' and no more. If we are inclined to the poet's side it will probably bring "thought love." I am going to suppose that some of my readers are practically inclined, however, and discuss most universal symptoms of Spring.

Usually you will find that those who suffer from 'spring fever' also suffer from summer, autumn and winter fever. No one has given us pleasant technical expressions for these fevers, and since we have not minds for inventing we are forced to call it --- laziness. There are many people who feel warmly towards the person who began the term 'spring fever' for it receives due respect from most people.

The strange fact is that we live through the bleak, dull days of winter with an occasional cold. Just when the buds begin to burst forth, and the new blades of grass push up out of the warm earth, we have a most dreadful fever.

Environment is a mighty factor, and if we would observe the campus these beautiful spring days, our attitudes would undergo a wonderful revolution. Most of us go to classes with our eyes glaring down at the pavement. Look up and see the trees and birds.

Be fair and call 'spring fever' by its right name---laziness. Be wise and find the cure for spring fever which is work and happiness.

A former student writes "It was my pleasure to write in the first issue of The Colonnade and I am so delighted to know it still exists!" This follows:

RETROSPECTION

Come, fill the cup, and in the fire of Spring your winter garment of Repentance fling. The bird of time has but a little way to flutter---and the Bird is on the Wing.

The old Persian poet has stirred my spirit to associate old days of happiness with those of Spring. With the passing of Winter, I am flinging my cap of Repentance. That I have not expressed my feelings for the ideals of our Alma Mater is a source of keen regret. The bird is on the Wing! Before it wings further will you let me retrospect on those days of Georgia State College for Women?

Though they were days filled with classes from eight-twenty to five and sometimes later, we had time to cement friendships which will never be broken. That spirit! How often we were conscious of it. We can never forget those ideals which that spirit fostered.

Then, too, we were always urged to remember, "a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches;" that a life spent in service develops the charming personality.

It is this desire to serve, that urges hundreds of young women throughout our land as well as foreign to make this world a happier and better place for having lived in it.

Every alumnae knows these ideals were those of Dr. Parks. He exemplified a life of service. Because of his example the faculty was inspired to give to us their very best in their respective fields. It was our desire to give them our best.

After looking backward to our much lamented president may each of us, alumnae as well as students, begin looking forward to see that our life is really: "His truth marching on."

TO A SOPHOMORE SOMEWHERE ON THE CAMPUS

Dear Sophomore:
In accepting your invitation to write to you, there stands out in my mind some very important problems of life that you should be considering, and it is these I write about.

With practically two years of work behind you, you feel that you have gone a long way on life's journey, but you have only started. Many will pass by "the rock on the road," thinking it is only an obstruction. Some will stop and ponder, "why the rock?" Others will stop long enough to move the rock to the side and discover that hidden beneath it is a bag of gold. I trust you will be wise enough to discover the hidden treasure.

Life necessarily demands that you go into the world at the end of this year, take with you the determination that some day you will return and seek the hidden treasure. Life's greatest motive force is ambition, and ambition is lubricated by enthusiasm and all are motivated by an ideal. If you enter the profession of teaching, hold before your mind the ideal of being a master teacher, remembering that you are to teach children, not books.

To a Sophomore who goes on to the goal of a degree, stick until you have accomplished that which you have desired.

In conclusion, my greatest wish is that you will never be satisfied with your present attainment, but will ever strive to reach greater heights.

Cordially yours,
George Harris Webber
Dean of Students

CAMP WILKINS

March 30, twelve excited girls and Miss Goodson gathered on Terrell porch ready to go to Camp Wilkins, Athens, Georgia. The bus left promptly at two-thirty and arrived in Athens at five-thirty without a single misfortune.

Camp Wilkins belongs to the Georgia State Agricultural College, and was generously loaned for the occasion by Dr. Andrew Soule. This camp is an ideal spot for a conference. It is located on a high hill with winding shady roads leading to the buildings. Athens is only a mile and a half away, and one can occasionally catch a street car to the city. The building is divided into four units, an auditorium, cafeteria, and two sleeping rooms. The camp is large enough to comfortably accommodate five hundred persons.

A hearty welcome address was delivered by Dr. Andrew Soule, President of the State Agricultural College. He gave a challenge to youth, bringing out the point that one does not have to be a missionary or a preacher to do right, but one has to live right, thinking of justice and God.

The Chief speaker of the Conference was Mr. George Collins, better known as "Shorty" Collins of New York City. He gave several inspiring talks, but one of his best was "Students' attitude toward Christian Principles," which emphasized the facts that students are here because we fall short in our expenditure of money on campus; we make no definite plan of our work so fall in the use of our time; the relations between men and women are to satisfactory on most campuses; there is too slight a chance for normal friendship; we fall short in our spirit on the campus; the student fails to get an education, as colleges turn out standardized rather than educated folk; we fall in our ignorance concerning international problems.

The Devotionals were led by Mr. Joe Connally, teacher at Payne College, Augusta, Ga. He gave many inspirational and beautiful talks and Morning Watch Sunday morning was unusually effective.

Aside from the discussions there was the social side, which was greatly enjoyed. There were delegations from Wesleyan, University of Georgia and G. S. C. W. Saturday afternoon the delegates were allowed to amuse themselves as they chose. Some of them attended the Mercer-Georgia Baseball game, while others preferred to see Athens. Saturday night a chili was given and many interesting games and contests were played.

As every true daughter of G. S. C. W. knows the food is one of the largest features of a trip. The meals were served in cafeteria style, by the Home Economics Department of the University of Georgia. Anyone who has been in the red hills of Georgia knows how the appetite is increased and how sweet is the sound of the luller bell.

The delegates slept on cots which were in three long rows down the room. Due to summer weather in Milledgeville the G. S. C. W. delegates carried a small amount of overgar; however, when they reached Athens they were greeted with winter winds. That night when ready to retire the weather grew colder, so it was necessary to sleep between mattresses.

Five-thirty Sunday afternoon came only too soon, and it was with the deepest regret that the time had come to bid farewell to Camp Wilkins. In each delegates estimation the conference was a glorious success and this was greatly due to the work of "Whitie" Craig, Emory University, and Grace Taylor of G. S. C. W. who were co-chairmen of the conference. Each delegate of G. S. C. W. is hoping that she will be able to attend another conference at Camp Wilkins soon.

RECENT ANNOUNCEMENT GIVES NEW THOUGHT TO EDUCATION

Miss Dorothy Parks has just announced her discovery of a new method of learning the theory and use of electricity. Careful experimental work was performed by Miss Parks with the aid of Dr. M. Vollmer and Miss Frances Horrin, before she returned to announce her theories. All books on the methods of teaching Physics must necessarily be revised because of this discovery.

Miss Parks has written a book on the subject. This she has dedicated to Miss Sarah Vance Ross, a former class mate.

ATWOOD---PINE

Unusual interest centers in the announcement of the recent marriage of Miss Addie Connell Atwood to Mr. James Elson Pine of Honolulu. The couple were quietly married in Aiken S. C. by Ordinary Mildred O'Neal and left immediately in their powerful new mono-plane for a trip around the world. It will be interesting to know that this plane was constructed under the careful supervision of Mr. Mary Smith and Blanche Marshall, renowned air plane builders. The plane will be piloted by Edna Burke.

GROUPE OF G. S. C. W. GIRLS HOLD REUNION

One of the interesting events on the campus last week was the reunion of a group of Emory girls who were students in 1928. The first feature of the reunion was a moonlight evening from 7 to 10.

Friday proved a day of joy to all members of the club attending. That night a dance was given in their honor by Miss Caroline Cheney, Gym director of the college. The college orchestra furnished the music while Emory Recreation Hall was brilliantly decorated in the Gold and Black class colors for the occasion.

Distinguished guests present were Mrs. and Mrs. A. T. Moore of Alabama. Captain Crosby of the U. S. Army and Dr. Spencer Darden the famous English Critic at Harvard University.

The girls attending the reunion were: Miss Philip Digby, formerly Miss Elizabeth Rape; Eugenia Serogzins; Miss Aughtry Oliver; Violin Director at Columbia University; Dr. Spencer Darden; Mrs. Owen Curtis, formerly Miss Marcell Oslorn; Mrs. Arthur Griggs, formerly Miss Sarah Bryant; Miss Macey Webb; Mrs. E. H. Smith, formerly Miss Mildred Morrill; Lady Canaan of Paris, formerly Miss Mary Bohannon.

Miss Robertine McLendon is now lecturing in the eastern states on the Values of Health Education.

Miss Martha Peacock sailed last week for China where she will do Missionary work.

Miss Louise Anderson is now proprietor of an Exclusive Beauty Parlor in New York.

Miss Beatrice Howard has just received a notice from the Metropolitan Opera Company that her trial recital was successful and she will be received into the Company.

Miss Naida Brooks is teaching dancing in the public schools at Richmond, Va.

Miss Eleanor Piper is now Mrs. William Lorenz of Oklahoma City.

Miss Margaret Camp is doing Y. W. C. A. work in Birmingham, Ala.

Miss Inez Jones is head of the Orpheus Home in Hapeville, Ga.

Dr. Mildred George holds U. S. chair of History at Yale University.

Miss Clifford Gignall is proprietor of a new Tea Room in Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Robert Parr, formerly Miss Sallie Huff, is music director at Peabody school.

Miss Ella Ruth Lewis is doing research work for the American Medical Association.

Miss Catherine Martin is private secretary to Senator George from this state.

Miss Elizabeth Torbert is now Mrs. Dan O'Hara of Miami, Florida.

Miss Wylene Jolly is demonstration agent for the National Biscuit Company.

NEW HOSPITAL OPENED BY G. S. C. W. ALUMNAE

Ashville, N. C., April 14. --- The new baby hospital opened here this week by Dr. Mary Elliott is said by specialists to be one of the most modern and best equipped of its kind in the nation. The medical world has looked forward to this opening for some time and patients are fast filling the wards of the new institution.

Those to assist Miss Elliott are: Dr. Sue Holtsbeck, Dr. Doris Watkins, Dr. Irma Vaughn and Miss Shera Carswell, head nurse.

MISS JAY ESTABLISHES SCHOOL OF DANCING

Miss Dorothy Jay, former student at G. S. C. W. and vice-president of her class for two years, has recently opened a school of dancing and instructed Gymnastics in Chicago.

Miss Jay, who received her inspiration while at G. S. C. W. to enter such a noble work, has just completed her work at Sanford University receiving a degree of Dr. of Gymnastics.

The many friends of "Dot" wish her great success in her new work. Those to assist her are Miss Marion Sparrow, Miss Clovis Perryman, and Miss Mary Ware Martin.

Miss Betty Roberts is now writing another new Sonata which she hopes to publish next month.

Miss Priscilla Forbes is teaching Physics in the High School in Decatur, Ga.

Mrs. John Cottridge, formerly Miss Betty Jennings, is now advertising manager for the Paris Fashions Shoppe on Broadway.

Miss Rebecca Fowler is news reporter for the Macon Telegraph.

Miss Mary Watson is now Mrs. Allen Quinton of Tampa, Florida.

Miss Florence Crow is head nurse of a new hospital just opened in Augusta, Ga.

Miss Inez McArthur is now Lady Blaiswood of London.

Miss Julia Ragsdale is teaching school in Houston, Texas.

Miss Fannie McClellan is now Mrs. P. J. Bryant of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Miss Grace Balcom is Business Manager for Sears-Roebuck & Co's. new plant in Milledgeville.

Miss Elizabeth Stovall is doing experiment work in the laboratories of Dr. Kellogg's new hospital.

Miss Frances Parsons is teaching music in Atlanta, Ga.

Miss Mary Belle Gisttrap is teaching Nature Study in the Junior High at Mobile, Alabama.

Miss Mary Dorah is now writing her fourth great novel to be published soon.

Miss Myrtle Hunt is rivaling Darwin in her recent discoveries of missing links.

Education League To Meet At G. S. C. W.

The faculty and student body on the G. S. C. W. campus are looking forward with great enthusiasm to the meeting of the Southern Education League to be held at the College Auditorium on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Many distinguished educators of Georgia and surrounding states will be present. Among that number are many former graduates of this college, namely: Miss Myrtle Walker, Dean of Women at Shorter College; Miss Irene Hall, of the Peabody faculty; Miss Fannie Little, Professor of Art at Brenau, and Dr. Louise Mapp, who holds the chair of Philosophy at Yale.

Where is Frances Cotton, that dear friend of those old days? Why she is one of the leading newspaper women in Gotham and had never put on a pound for running around finding news, as she used to do for Class editions of our college paper. She has interviewed Madame Colquitt quite recently for the New York Times.

Washington's Debuntes Organize

Miss Martha Barron, a former student at G. S. C. W., was unanimously elected president of the Belles of Washington at a recent meeting of the 1935 Debutante Club. This club is composed of other famous society young women of the '28 class, including Elizabeth Schneessler, Adelle Hollingsworth, Ethel Green, and Evelyn Warren.

A Letter From Diary of Nanadlyn Hall

New York City

Wednesday, April 10, 1935

Here I am in New York at last! How I've dreamed of coming here all these years while I taught my one---teacher school! What does that enormous sign say? "Colquitts School of Drama and Art" can it be? I'm going in! As I wondered I went in to the luxurious studio and when I asked for Madame Colquitt, I was presented to Dorothy Colquitt, my friend whom I had known so well during my college days at G. S. C. W.

While we were discussing the things which had happened during the years since we finished college, Madame Colquitt's very able assistant came in and imagine my astonishment at learning it was none other than Virginia Griggs, another friend of mine at G. S. C. W. I soon found that Madame Colquitt was very ably assisted in the department of dancing by Mary Julia Sennett, Willie Baker, Aldine Heard, Evelyn Brockington, Anstie Brooks, Edith Bowden, Kat Shivers, Bobby Smith and Nell Weir.

While we were conversing, a charming looking young matron brought her lovely twins for their dancing lesson. This beautiful young woman was the former Mary Lynn Hull. I was delighted to see all the girls whom I had known at G. S. C. W. I asked Madame Colquitt to tell me more about our class-mates and she told me that Martha Cooley was owner of a delightful tea room near by.

We went there to luncheon, and were joined by Polly Sigman whom I learned was a most successful social worker in the East Side slums. She talked incessantly of her work and thinks of little else. She is still a striking looking as in the college days. Gladys West sauntered in and I pinched myself to see if I could be dreaming I was on the campus at G. S. C. W. in 1928 instead of in New York in 1935. Gladys is one of the outstanding campaign leaders in the movement for more and better gum and is doing a great work. I asked about Ophelia Brodgen and Harriet Lowe, two of the cleverest girls I had known at G. S. C. W. They have gone in to vaudeville work and are making thousands laugh as they used to do when they put on impromptu entertainments at our Sunday night feasts. Margaret Candier is their business manager and a most successful one.

Where is Frances Cotton, that dear friend of those old days? Why she is one of the leading newspaper women in Gotham and had never put on a pound for running around finding news, as she used to do for Class editions of our college paper. She has interviewed Madame Colquitt quite recently for the New York Times.

I have been happier this day than I have been for a long time. I am so glad to know that so many of my friends have been successful in their careers.

HOW TO CHOOSE YOUR WIFE

In part of Africa where women carry real loads on their heads the men choose their wives on the strength of their neck. This custom is followed to some extent in this country. ---Missouri Outlaw.

MANSION FEASTS

One of the most delightful birthday parties during the month of March was the one given Misses Lucile Hayes and Marie Smith by Gladys Hayes in her room in Mansion. The table was artistically decorated with daffodils and roses. Delightful sandwiches, cake and grape juice were served. The hostess was assisted by Misses Trellis Thompson and Nanette Mosley. An enjoyable social hour was spent after the feast.

A very enjoyable feast was given on April Fool's Day in honor of Kathleen Rice, Helen Bolen and Elizabeth McDuffie by their roommates Mary Mosley, Naida Brooks, Frances Linch, Billie Hewett and Mildred Bunkley.

Impromptu speeches were given by those who were to go on the class trip, as to what they would look for while in Charleston. Everyone enjoyed the evening.

GIRLS ENJOY MERCER AND DAHLONEGA GLEE CLUB

If there is anything that G. S. C. girls enjoy more than one Glee Club it is two Glee Clubs. So the recent visits of the Dahlonega and the Mercer Glee clubs afforded much amusement, excitement and discussion --both wise and otherwise. The Dahlonega Glee Club visited G. S. C. W. for the first time on Wednesday, March 28. They presented quite a varied and entertaining program, including Southern melodies, classical selections and jazz. Truly, they kept our temperature changing from hot to cold! The "Greater Mercer Glee Club" visited our campus Saturday afternoon, April 7. The performance they rendered showed excellent stage personality. Merriment reigned. To hear a true musician, one expects to see a personality wearing high-top shoes, a swallow tail coat, spectacles, and long shaggy hair; of good looks and talent as was theirs proved too much for the audience.

SENIOR GLEE CLUB SINGS AT BAPTIST CHURCH

On Sunday evening April 8, the Senior Glee Club sang two very beautiful selections at the Baptist Church. These were: "Sundown" and "The Lord is My Shepherd". The service was a union meeting of all the young people's organization of the town sponsored by the W. T. C. U.

MISS HASSLOCK VISITS COLLEGE

The Household Science Department was fortunate in having Miss Clara Hasslock, representative of the Soft Wheat Millers Association in Nashville, Tennessee, demonstrate in the department through the week of April 2 - 6. She demonstrated the making of breads and variations of bread stuffs to the Freshman Sophomores, and advanced classes. Her demonstrations were very beneficial and interesting, and the foods she prepared were most appetizing. Miss Hasslock is a former head of the Household Science Department of G. S. C. W. and she is very pleasantly remembered not only in that department but to all the faculty. The Soft Wheat Millers Association of which she is a representative is composed of seventy-two soft wheat flour mills in the South.

HISTORY CLUB ANTICIPATING NOMINATION FOR PARTY CANDIDATES

Unusual interest is manifested in the election that will take place at the next meeting of the History Club. The program of this meeting will take the form of a national nominating convention of Republican and Democratic parties. There are four candidates for nomination for each party. After the platforms have been made and all nominated by his own state, the candidate will deliver their speeches after which each party will elect its nominees for President for 1928. At the last History Club meeting of the year the election of President from these two candidates will take place.

Station Y. Y. Y. presented by Junior class of Peabody High School. A large audience enjoyed the play "Station Y. Y. Y." was presented in the assembly room by the Junior class of Peabody High school April 6. It was a one act comedy coached by Miss Mae Evans. The play was given to raise money for the new high school club room. A rod by sum was cleared. Those taken part were: Florence Gheesling, Harriet Campbell, Mae Moore, Alma Sems and Ruth Wilson.

MEETING OF COMMITTEE OF STANDARDS OF HOME ECONOMICS OF G. H. E. A. HELD AT G. S. C. W.

On March 31, an important meeting of the committee of standards of home economics of the Georgia Home Economics association was held at G. S. C. W. at the request of the chairman, Miss Sussie Tabb. Those attending were Miss Epsie Campbell, supervisor of vocational work in Georgia, and Miss Clara Lee Cone, Supervisor of Home Economics in the Atlanta schools. The committee was called together for purpose of formulating a piece of work which will be a very important step in the field of Home Economics in the State. Suggested minimum essentials for first year in general Home Economics were set up. The aims of the committee are first, to see that those essentials are met by the high schools in the State; next, to present them to all the college of the States requesting at least one entrance unit in Home Economics. Home Economics is the newest subject in the curriculum but one that bears the closest relation to the lives of girls, and it should be on par with other subjects from the standpoint of college entrance.

Not one phase of college life has been neglected. Editors have been on the post of duty for lo! these many months and little has escaped the scrutinizing glances of those assigned this responsibility.

As a result, it is the expectation of a waiting campus that this year's production will in truth be a Spectrum to us; that as a Spectrum reflects the colors of the rainbow, so will this reflect the numerous activities on our campus and lead us all to enjoy living over our life in pictures.

Class Trip Enjoyed

world. Here those with the least creative genius might find inspiration in abundance. Gazing around one could distinguish the budding artists and poets by the adorable and entranced expressions which showed that impressions were being stored for future reference. Indeed, had palette or pencil been convenient to hand, one might have seen the actual composition in progress! Even a prosaic person might find inspiration and compose a poem beginning "I dreamed a dream of heaven," here in the garden!

After a hasty lunch at the Frances Marion the "Happy Five Hundred" set out for Ft. Moultrie. The boat trip was a new experience for some of the girls, and many of them had never seen the ocean which became evident after we left Charleston harbor. The group was contentiously received on the island, and carried to see interesting points of the Fort. Some of the girls went down into the "living tomb" of Osceola, the Indian Chief held prisoner for two years in a little underground stone chamber. The tour of the Fort was followed by a review parade of the soldiers which was also new to many of the girls. Supper came next, which was not the least of the entertainment to G. S. C. W. students. They were served army beans in army style, and a large portion of the army was required to serve so large a crowd. The beans were supplemented by delicious barbecue, rolls, coffee, and pie.

The crowd reluctantly boarded the return train, going directly from the boat to the terminal. The long trip home was enlivened by songs, cold drinks, and the lunches presented by the soldiers at Fort Moultrie. The "Lovely Special" reached Milledgeville about 3 a. m., Wednesday with the usual "tired but happy crowd."

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS' SPRING COUNCIL HELD HERE

A meeting of the executives of the Georgia State Volunteers' Union was held on our campus April 14 and 15. The new officers met to plan the work of the union for the coming year. Wesleyan, Agnes Scott, Columbia Seminary, Emory, Mercer, and G. S. C. W. were represented. The girls stayed in the dormitories and the boys out in town. Meetings were held in the Y. W. C. A. room, beginning at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday and lasting until four o'clock on Sunday. The president of the union, who is from Emory and the vice-president, from Agnes Scott, led vespers Sunday evening with a very interesting program.

NEW DORMITORY.

On the G. S. C. W. Campus there is at all times an atmosphere of growth and as one walks across the campus each day she sees a beautiful new dormitory growing larger. Each one is made glad to know that next September when the students return there will be a new home for some of the girls at G. S. C. W.

SPRING

By Henry Timrod

Spring, with that nameless pathos in the air
Which dwells with all things fair, Spring, with her golden suns, and silver rain,
Is with us once again.

Out in the lonely woods the jasmine
burns
Its fragrant lamps, and turns
Into a royal court with green
festoons
The banks of dark lagoons.

In the deep heart of every forest tree
The blood is all a glee,
And there's a look about the leafless bowers
As if they dreamed of flowers.

CHEER

Even a tiny bird
Bursting with song,
May scatter sunshine

All the day long.
And just a little dog,
Curly and brown,
May carry jolly fleas
All over town.

---Maud E. Usehold.

Wife: "Look at that adorable hat in the window, John. Let's go buy it."

THE WHITE UNIFORM IS DONNED

Not only did the trees, flowers, and weather herald the fact that "Spring is here" but on Easter Sunday the students of G. S. C. W.
also helped make that fact known.
The Freshman, Sophomores, and Juniors, all decked out in their white and black outfits, better known as their "white uniforms", and the Seniors in their new Easter Finery made a lovely sight on Easter morning on their way to church.

Since the wearing of white is so symbolic of the Easter season, it seems especially appropriate that on Easter Sunday the three under classes should wear their white uniforms for the first time this spring. It seemed that a new spirit pervaded the campus when the white dresses were worn, and they made such a wholesale change from the dull routine of wearing the brown uniforms.

FRESHMAN GIVE CHAPEL PROGRAM.

A very beautiful musical program was rendered by the Freshman Glee Club, assisted by the entire class on Friday morning, March 31.
The class sang "Palms" which was followed by three members, The Bluebirds, "Santa Lucia", and "The Canoe Song."
